

Would you like to be our school
SUPERHERO?

Use your power to help our most vulnerable students with special needs have a brighter future.

RIGHT NOW

Students with special needs are not easily accessing

- An equal right to an education - unsuitable school places
- Early intervention diagnosis - 4+ year public waiting lists
- Speech & language/ Occupational Therapy treatment plans
- Life saving Psychiatrist or Psychologist services
- Disability services - transport to school, adapted classrooms
- Essential emotional regulating equipment
- Assisted technologies - laptops, communication tools

SCHOOLS are insufficiently equipped to meet the complex needs of all students. Specialist training, adapted classrooms, specific sensory equipment, access to multidisciplinary teams & state agencies along with proven educational technologies are all needed urgently.

Ensuring well-targeted early interventions for our children is the cornerstone for nurturing vulnerability into resilience.

It is the catalyst for building life skills, empowering future innovators, researchers, inventors, developers, scientists, & entrepreneurs to make significant contributions to society.

SUPERHERO

We are searching for our school SUPERHERO to help fund sensory supports that will make a lasting impact on the educational journey for ALL our students especially those with extra needs such as Autism, ADHD, Down Syndrome, Dyspraxia, Dyscalculia, Dysgraphia, Dyslexia, Learning Delays, Sensory Processing Disorder, Anxiety, Tourettes & Developmental Conditions.

A lack of timely interventions can lead to severe long term impacts on students.

ACADEMIC STRUGGLES: Students may experience ongoing difficulties in academic subjects, leading to lower achievement levels.

LOW SELF-ESTEEM: Persistent academic and social challenges negatively impacts a student's overall sense of self-worth.

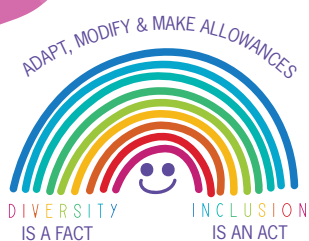

SOCIAL ISOLATION Unaddressed challenges can result in social difficulties, as students may struggle to connect with their peers leading to depression and mental health crisis.

BEHAVIOURAL ISSUES: Untreated challenges can manifest as disruptive behaviours, as students may struggle to communicate their needs effectively or cope with frustration and stress.

POTENTIAL FOR UNEMPLOYMENT: Academic and social challenges can affect employability, limiting career options and contributing to higher rates of unemployment in adulthood.

MENTAL HEALTH CRISIS Persistent challenges without intervention can contribute to the development or exacerbation of mental health issues, such as anxiety or depression.

Together, we hope to create a more inclusive & prosperous community.
